

Bachelor of Business (Management)

Registration Code: PRV14012
CRICOS Code: 03391M

Introduction

Management knowledge and skills are indispensable across all kinds of organisations, whether they be private or government, profit-oriented or not-for-profit.

The Management major equips you to manage every aspect of an organisation. In the first year, the program covers foundational areas of understanding – including management, marketing, accounting, and microeconomics – serving as a pathway for further learning. In subsequent years, students can pursue individual interests in a range of business disciplines, including human resources, finance, accounting, information systems, operations management, not-for-profits, international business and strategic planning.

The units are grounded in a Christian ethical framework which upholds the dignity of human beings and our social responsibilities to one another.
