

Write a Reference List (APA)

The reference list goes at the end of your essay. The following information comes from the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (2020, p. 303).

- Always start on a new page.
- The title should be in bold letters and centred (see the next page).
- The title should be pluralized (i.e. References) even if you only cite one reference in your paper.
- Every source you use in your paper should appear in your reference list.
- Place references in alphabetical order (according to the surnames of authors).
- References should be double spaced, with no extra line between each source.
- Indent any second and following lines of a reference by 0.5 of an inch (1.27 cm). You can just hit the tab button on your computer to enforce this, the same way you indent a paragraph.
- Reference patterns differ depending on the kind of source. See the APA Reference Guide for patterns regarding common sources. For more patterns and details, go to the APA website: www.apastyle.apa.org

References

American Psychological Association. (2020). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.). Author.